An Executive Leadership Must-Have, Must-Do!

SESSION OVERVIEW:

With Gallup reporting a whopping 67% of workers identified as “disengaged” or unhappy at work, organizations are finding greater truth in the adage, “They don’t care how much you know until they know how much you care.” With this impetus, Vera Jones has both written the book and designed the Leadership 6-S interactive professional development workshop to help leaders cultivate their professional capacities to engage and relate with greater EMPATHY.

The workshop is designed to help participants identify and explore six core workplace motivators that when successfully communicated and implemented, help leaders experience better relationships and results.

KEY TAKEAWAYS:

This workshop invites participants to:

- learn how empathy is a leadership superpower, and why it is the key to both employee engagement and conflict resolution.
- understand the emotionally intelligent way to motivate others based on one simple and strategic communication practice.
- gain self-awareness and resilience by assessing what personally motivates them (and others) to do their best work.
- improve communication effectiveness by learning to engage in more empathic, relational conversations resulting in greater leadership clarity, confidence, and collaboration.
- ignite greater motivation and significance in leadership, especially in the face of adversity, which is when true, empathic leadership is needed the most!
